PART 2

GENERAL

Form of documents

4. All applications and other documents made or submitted by any party in connection with any proceeding shall, unless special circumstances otherwise require, be on “letter size” paper.

Consultative procedure

5. (1) Subject to the provisions of section 13 of the Public Utilities Commission Act¹, the Commission shall give to persons who are or who are likely to be affected by a decision of the Commission an opportunity to make submissions to the Commission, or otherwise consult with such persons in good faith.

(Am. in L.R. 15/12/2014)

(2) The opportunity referred to in subsection (1) above shall, unless otherwise determined by the Commission, be provided by putting out to a public consultation any significant substantive or procedural decision of the Commission that may affect persons.

¹ This section has been corrected to reflect the renumbering of the Public Utilities Commission Act, R.S.A. c. P175 (15/12/2014).

(3) The objectives of public consultation are to—

- (c) ensure that the Commission has investigated all aspects of an issue; and
- (d) ensure transparency of decisions of the Commission.

(4) The Commission shall determine the form of the consultative process to take place in respect of any decision proposed to be taken by the Commission depending on the nature of the issue, the number of parties potentially affected by a decision, the impact on the marketplace and the consequences to the consumer. The public consultation may take the form of—

- (a) an invitation to affected persons to submit written submissions;
- (b) individual meetings with one or more interested parties;
- (c) meetings, seminars, and workshops with representative groups and other interested parties;
- (d) issuing draft documents containing the preliminary view of the Commission and soliciting comments from the public at large before a final decision is taken; or
- (e) a public hearing.

(5) Except in case of an emergency, the Commission shall allow respondents at least 4 weeks in which to respond to any request for information or draft documents issued by the Commission in the course of a consultative process.

(6) The Commission shall publish all responses received and allow participants in the process a further opportunity to comment except such information that is confidential information under the Act or these Regulations.

(7) The Commission shall consider all responses and comments received before making a final decision.

(8) In case the Commission decides to hold a public hearing, the Commission shall prescribe and publish the rules for the hearing having regard to such of the factors listed in subsection (4).

Directions on procedure

6. (1) Where it deems it appropriate in any proceeding, the Commission may issue directions on procedure, which shall govern the conduct of the proceeding and prevail over any provision of these Regulations that is inconsistent with those directions.

- (d) the number of the facsimile machine at which documents may be received; and
- (e) the name and telephone number of a person to contact if problems occur in transmission.

(3) Proof of service by affidavit shall, at the request of the Commission, be filed with the Executive Director in respect of any document required to be served.

Stay of proceeding

11. Where a party to a proceeding has not complied with any requirement of these Regulations or any direction on procedure issued under section 6, the Commission may stay the proceeding until satisfied that such requirement has been complied with or take such other steps as it considers just and reasonable.

Formulation of issues

12. If it appears to the Commission at any time that the statements in an application, answer, intervention or reply do not sufficiently raise or disclose the issue of fact in dispute between the parties, the Commission may direct the parties to prepare issues that shall, if not agreed to by the parties, be settled by the Commission.

Questions of law

13. If it appears to the Commission at any time that there is a question or issue of law, of jurisdiction or of practice and procedure that should be decided before a proceeding is continued, the Commission may direct the question or issue to be referred to the Attorney General's Chambers for opinion and the Commission may, pending such decision, order the whole or any part of the proceeding to be stayed.

Conference

14. The Commission may, orally or in writing, direct parties or their solicitor to appear before a member or an officer of the Commission at a specified time and place for a conference or to submit suggestions in writing to the Commission for the purpose of formulating issues and assisting the Commission in the consideration of the simplification of issues, amending an application, answer, intervention or reply for the purpose of clarification or any other matters that may aid in the simplification of the evidence and disposition of the proceedings.
